Bookstall Bylines

October will be a busy month for book sales. Our spring clearance is continuing for the market in October and culminating in the Garage Sale Trail on 25th October. During this period all books are for sale at half the marked price.

An exception to this, will naturally be, anything marked at 5 cents – at this price it will be two for the price of one.

Then on 31st October we will be selling books at the Orford Twilight Fair. Another great chance to buy some cheap books.

After this massive clearance, November should see a new range of good quality books available ready for Christmas and the holidays.

Remember we have a special request note book so if you cannot find the book you want we will make a note of it and try our hardest over the next few months to fulfil your wish.

In the meantime happy reading.

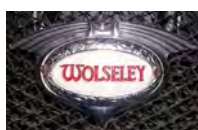

Happy reading,

Judy.

Today's attraction From Britain to 'Bunna

October marks the 50th Anniversary of the Rover Car Club of Australia Inc.

While the Club was formed in Victoria, in 1964, very early on it attracted members from Tasmania.

To mark the Anniversary the Tasmanian register of the RCCA together with The Village is hosting our first British Car Show.

Club members will have on display today models ranging from late 1940's P3 to the last model Rover sold in Australia, Rover 75.

The Rover 75 was the last of the Rover Sedans, as unfortunately the company, then called MG Rover, which had just celebrated the Centenary of the Rover automobile, went out of business in 2005.

Amongst the "British" cars on display you may notice what may appear to be some anomalies. Some British Make cars were made overseas.

For example the Rover P6B 3500 was assembled in New Zealand and from 1971 to 1976, more than 2,500 cars were imported to Australia during that time.

The Nelson plant was also assembling Jaguar XJ6 and Triumph 2000/2500 cars, but none for direct export to Australia.

On the other hand, some non British manufacturers made cars in Britain (should we count the BMW Mini??), makes such as Honda.

I would like to thank the other Tasmanian Car Clubs for helping make the Show such a success. Including but not limited to Jaguar, MG, Mini, Triumph, Jensen, Jowett and Post Vintage Car Club. Also all the individual owners who have come along today.

For the visitor, please admire and respect the vehicles, please do not touch.

There will be a People's Choice Award. To be announced around 1.00 pm. Please make sure you vote for "YOUR" favourite vehicle.

Prizes will include selections of our wonderful local East Coast Wines, kindly donated by the Vineyards, including Milton, Darlington and Bentley's Wildside.

A big thank you to all who have helped today.

What's happening at The Village

Free Literacy Clinic extended:

As the Australian Government, through Communities for Children, has extended our funding for another 12 months, the after school Literacy Clinic at The Village has continued and is on Tuesday from 2.45pm until 4pm during the school term.

If you are concerned about your child's reading progress and would like a free assessment and a free spelling and reading program call in and see us on a Tuesday or ring Jane Tenniswood on 62577583 or email windsong@skymesh.com.au

For your diary:

The next East Coast Community Network meeting will be held on 25 November 10:00 am– 12:00 at The Village. East Coast Community Networking meetings aim to bring together people who are living and/or working in the East Coast area (or would like to be), provide linkages between services, generate ideas or create new possibilities which will enhance well being or improve service delivery in the region.

The format is a “round-table” of everyone who is attending, giving a chance to let others know who they are and what they do. Everyone then has the opportunity to “connect” with anyone whose work interests them, over morning tea.

It is an informal sharing of information about services which operate along the East Coast – who, what, when & where! Come and share about yourself, your business or services – or come and find out about what is happening in the region.

Cubby House Project

The building of the Cubby House is progressing slowly as we keep running out of books.

We are looking for hard cover books that you would like to dispose of. Perhaps Readers Digest or Encyclopaedias, any hard cover books at all will be a help.

Please take a look at the "in progress" work, the cubby is close to the Barn.

Dorothy.

President's Report for 2014

ERDO President's Report to the Annual General Meeting, 15th September, 2014:

The past year has been one of growth in all aspects of ERDO's operation and in The Village.

The monthly market continues to be well supported by our regular stallholders and we also welcome many occasional stallholders who find that our market has real 'atmosphere', but the real support we value is from our regular market goers, the community and visitors. Through the hard work of our members and volunteers we can proudly say that we are contributing something very special to our community as well as paying our bills!

Throughout the year Webmaster Peter continues disseminating information about community events through our Facebook page, posts photos to various media and somewhere along the way has revamped our website. Peter is also responsible for collecting and editing information for the Village Voice which attracts a lot of interest. We acknowledge Council's contribution in printing our newsletter.

Whilst on newsletters I would like to thank the editors of the Great Oyster Bay News, Central Coast Courier, East Coast View and The Roundabout, which unfortunately is no longer published, for their support in publishing stories and notices of our activities.

The Gallery has seen some interesting exhibitions which have been curated by Dorothy. Kris Shaeffer's Healing 'Arts' attracted a lot of attention as did Kris whose presence was so much part of the exhibition. The John Ingleton exhibition as part of the France to Freycinet festival was hugely successful with many sales made and the acquisition of a piece for The Village collection. In the coming months several artists have booked the gallery for exhibitions.

Use of The Village is increasing with regular bookings from the Tasmanian Aboriginal Centre, employment agencies, training organisations, and craft groups. Other groups have booked the space for dinners, lunches etc. All this helps us to meet our commitments.

With the connection to the NBN high speed internet is now available and WiFi can be accessed in all our buildings.

The jobs forum, 'Stepping into the Future', which grew out of the East Coast Network, was a great success with 45 booths representing employers, training and educational establishments. This further highlighted the need for more suitable spaces in our community for training, meetings etc. With this in mind we have revised our plans for the renovation of the L-shaped shed.

The Village was an integral part of the France to Freycinet Festival with an art exhibition, long lunch, market and car display. The publicity associating with Seafest and being able to attract the 'Tour d' Cure' bike ride into Triabunna was immense with several live cross from Triabunna to national television 'Sunrise' program.

The Communities for Children program commenced in October 2012 and has grown, sometimes at an alarming rate, to create a great hive of activity at The Village. We have been refunded for a further year so once again we will see a steady stream of youngsters heading to The Village on Tuesdays for their literacy program and to watch progress on the Cubby house of books.

There are so many other activities to report on so I will just list them:

The Peter and Sue Lendon bookbinding workshops

Dorothy's pottery classes with adults and school students

Our interaction with the Monash/UTAS students and the 'Triabunna Tomorrow' project

East Coast Community Network with over 120 on its database continue to meet at The Village

This year we would also like to welcome a new group, the Spring Bay Community Boat Shed, to the ERDO family. In some ways this is a new concept for our organization to host or auspice another group, we have done this with project but not with another group. To use the jargon I think this will be a win/win situation for all concerned.

I wish to thank all office bearers, members and volunteers for their dedication and support of ERDO and The Village. In whatever way you contribute to our organization and projects remember to remain positive and laugh.
